DOCTOR OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Before the Degree awarding, the DBA dissertation must be written and defended in a live defense known as the “viva voce.” The dissertation argument is about applied sciences. It consists of 50,000 words, which fulfills independent research criteria on a superior level and consequentially demonstrates the internationally acknowledged standards of doctoral studies.

The variety of topics is extensive, and candidates can make their own choice upon approval of the Academic Board. The only request is that the selected research relates to management, business, and/or economy. Theory and empirically consistent research, which the dissertation delivers, are expected to be on a superior level. An individual director of studies will support their student during the development and writing of the dissertation. Students will find personal support, but they are expected to work individually, according to the individual nature of such studies on this high level.
